The Stories of Pro Bono in TN

This month's featured Stories of Pro Bono are featured in the recently released Tennessee Pro Bono Report, which features data and stories of pro bono from our partners submitted to us through our annual surveys. The report features two sections highlighting stories submitted by our partners: From Our Partners and Find Your Inspiration.

The Tennessee Pro Bono Report is released annually and features sections on Tennessee Faith & Justice Alliance partners and legal clinics in Tennessee, as well as details on the work of Access to Justice partners through the state. Take a look to hear about the great work happening statewide, and learn about additional resources or programs to try near you! The full Pro Bono Report can be read here

See a few highlights below:

"The Magdalene Clinic helped women who are part of the Magdalene program to have court costs waived so as to enable them to obtain or keep their driver's licenses. Belmont Law created a new partnership with the Legal Aid Society for Middle Tennessee and the Cumberland to help indigent women have legal representation in obtaining orders of protection with students assisting under limited licenses."
—Belmont Law School

"We helped many people facing criminal charges for reduced fees. One of the best cases was helping an elderly gentleman with debt collection issues relating to the costs from his two heart attacks so that he could still have enough money to keep his home."
—Griffin & Davis PLLC, a law firm in Warren County
